

Paradise City

FAIRS OF FINE AND FUNCTIONAL ART

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Paradise City in the News

Northampton, MA - July 1, 2007 - Good Night and Good Luck!

Hundreds of Murrow Society members and friends of WGBY, Public Television for western New England, attended the 2nd Annual Paradise City Arts Festival preview event on Friday, May 25th before 'Springtime in Paradise' on Memorial Day Weekend. Enjoying a beautiful summer evening, guests were privileged to get a sneak preview of this region's premier arts festival, meeting artists, shopping, and savoring cocktails and refreshments in an exclusive behind-the-scenes atmosphere.

The evening was a huge success thanks to Geoffrey and Linda Post, Murrow Society and Board members, who graciously donated their time and talents. Thanks also to Paradise City artist Dale Rogers, who donated a spectacular sculpture for a live raffle. And special thanks to the Spoleto Group, India House, Smokin Lil's, Amber Waves, Cornucopia and V-One Vodka, whose delectable offerings made the evening a truly memorable culinary experience.

WGBY, a community-supported public broadcasting organization, connects the people of our region with ideas, events and each other to fulfill their aspirations, enrich their lives and improve their communities. When you become a Murrow member of WGBY you become an active partner in this mission. To find out how, call 413 781-2801 or visit wgby.org, and mark your calendars for next Memorial Day Weekend, when this special preview event brings good food, art and those that appreciate it all together.

Photo: Austin Loney

Raffle winner Jim Goodman poses with his Dale Rogers sculpture.